4. Q&A

Memory Shortage - impact on RTX

▲ Prices increasing on Memory DRAM

Suppliers are raising prices. AI data centres are cannibalising conventional memory capacity

🕒 Lead times increasing

As AI data centres are cannibalising conventional memory capacity, lead times on memory are increasing.

⚠️ Impact on RTX: BOM pressure and planning risk

RTX modules use DRAM and NAND flash. Rising costs create direct BOM pressure; extended lead times constrain production flexibility and increase buffer stock requirements.

✓ How RTX navigates: proactive sourcing and contract strategy

Extended procurement horizons, seeking long-term allocation agreements, and dual-sourcing options. Dialogue with customers to secure supply and align on price impact
